here is a list and information below of the committee
liaisons as of August, 2016.

ALSA Committee members are selected by the Chair of the Committee and serve a one year term starting July 1 of the current year. The Committee Chair is selected by the BOD liaison of the Committee and also serves a one year term starting July 1st of the current year. The exception to this is the Regional, Grand National, and Fiber Committees which serve a one year term starting December 1st of the current year - following the conclusion of the Regional and National shows of that year. As Committees are selected, it is recommended that members are diversified as to their geographic regions to offer complete membership representation.

Committee Chairs should submit a Committee Report to their BOD liaison for each month's BOD meeting after it has been approved by all their committee members. (Minutes 8-15-06) Recommendations from committees are to be a consensus of the majority of Committee members, not just the opinion of the Chair. It is helpful for the BOD to even include the total votes (not names) of the Committee members on an issue in your report.

Letter From The Editor

As we welcome in 2017 and put 2016 behind us, I believe that there has been a surge in the llama industry.

Our ranch had lost some of our older breeding stock over the years and decided to start replacing these females. We had not bred in several years and decided to breed some of our older bloodlines. We bred a few of our females planning on about eight to ten babies. As of this writing we have five babies on the ground that range from three weeks to three days old and they are all sold.

Other ranches have told me there sales have been good too.

I see a lot of ranches on social media with all kinds of fiber and fiber products.

Looking at the ALSA minutes it looks like memberships and ALSA sanctioned shows are up.

It seems to be a great time to really get involved in llama showing and other activities with your llamas.

Ruby

OFFICE TALK

Happy New Year everyone!

I hope your Christmas/Chanukah Holiday was wonderful and you're ready for a New Year with your Llamas and Alpacas!

We started this New Year by issuing two youth their "Ultimate Youth Awards"; Maggie Jordan and Morgan Barba. To earn this award, these youth had to earn 6 1st places in Showmanship and Obstacle and two 1st places in Pack or PR.... no small feat! Kuddos to you two and to all of our ALSA youth! Please follow this link to see all of our "Ultimate Youth" <http://www.alsashow.net/champwyth.asp>.

If any of you feel you have earned this award or any other award and your name is not listed OR you don't have the certificate, please contact the ALSA office and let's get you the award you deserve and get on this list. Or you just may be on this list or on another list and have not received your certificate. Let's get you one. Please let the ALSA office know! Thank you!

There are also awards that are given to Adult members AND their Lamas. In fact, we just gave out 25 Certificates of Achievement to Ulin and Debbie Andrews' Llamas for their Awards earned in 2016! Congratulations to the Andrews and to everyone else that accomplished something in 2016! Something new in this Showing Magazine is a list of the most recent awards given.

To see these awards on the ALSA website, please follow this link: <http://www.alsashow.net/awards.html>. If you did not receive your certificate for 2016 OR any other year, please contact me and let's research! We don't want anyone to NOT receive what they have earned!

And please remember, that I can only fix something that I know about! SO – if you think there is an error in posting OR with your awards, please tell me!

It is time for everyone to renew their memberships here at ALSA. Last year many of you waited until you had a show to attend. Please do this now!

If you have not renewed your membership at ALSA or want to join ALSA, please contact the ALSA office or follow these links:

For an online form: <https://alsashow.sitestreet.com/alsashoworg/secure/membform.html>

For a printable form: <http://www.alsashow.net/printform2016.pdf>

2017 Membership cards are being sent out now! If you don't have yours yet, and you've renewed, don't worry – it's coming. If you wish, please feel free to contact the ALSA office to check or get an email confirmation for an upcoming show entry until your card arrives!

One of the "perks" for having your membership renewed NOW is the ability to run for an office in the 2017 General Election that is undergoing now! Please see the section in this Showring explaining the General Election Process or visit our website here: <http://www.alsashow.net/election.html> get involved in your Association! We have many positions available for members from all areas of the United States!

Another benefit of having an ALSA membership is the entitlement to have a FREE copy of the new 21st Edition ALSA Handbook. This Handbook took effect on January 1, 2017. (Please, one handbook per household) These handbooks will be mailed to Regular members soon. Until then, The 21st Edition ALSA Handbook is on the ALSA website here:

<http://www.alsashow.net/FINAL%202017%2021st%20Edition%20ALSA%20Handbook.pdf>

The LIFETIME members are being asked to contact the ALSA office to verify their address. (LIFETIME members, you will not receive a handbook unless this is done – we haven't heard from some of you, LIFETIME members, for a very long time – you could have moved – or you don't want or need a handbook!)

Also, if you'd like a pdf to put directly on your desktop, laptop, tablet, etc., please contact the ALSA office. We know that many youth prefer this method so they will not automatically get a Handbook. Please call the office if you would like one!

Thank you all for understanding this process!

Our shows for 2017 are also starting to get posted on the website here

<http://www.alsashow.org/nshows2003.asp> This ALSA calendar of events updates daily. If you don't see a show that you're used to going to, and you think it should be listed, don't hesitate to call. And may I please remind all of our superintendents to get your shows sanctioned early. Your attendance at your show should increase if you do this now! There will be an email blast each month announcing shows on the ALSA calendar for that month and the next upcoming month – good exposure here!

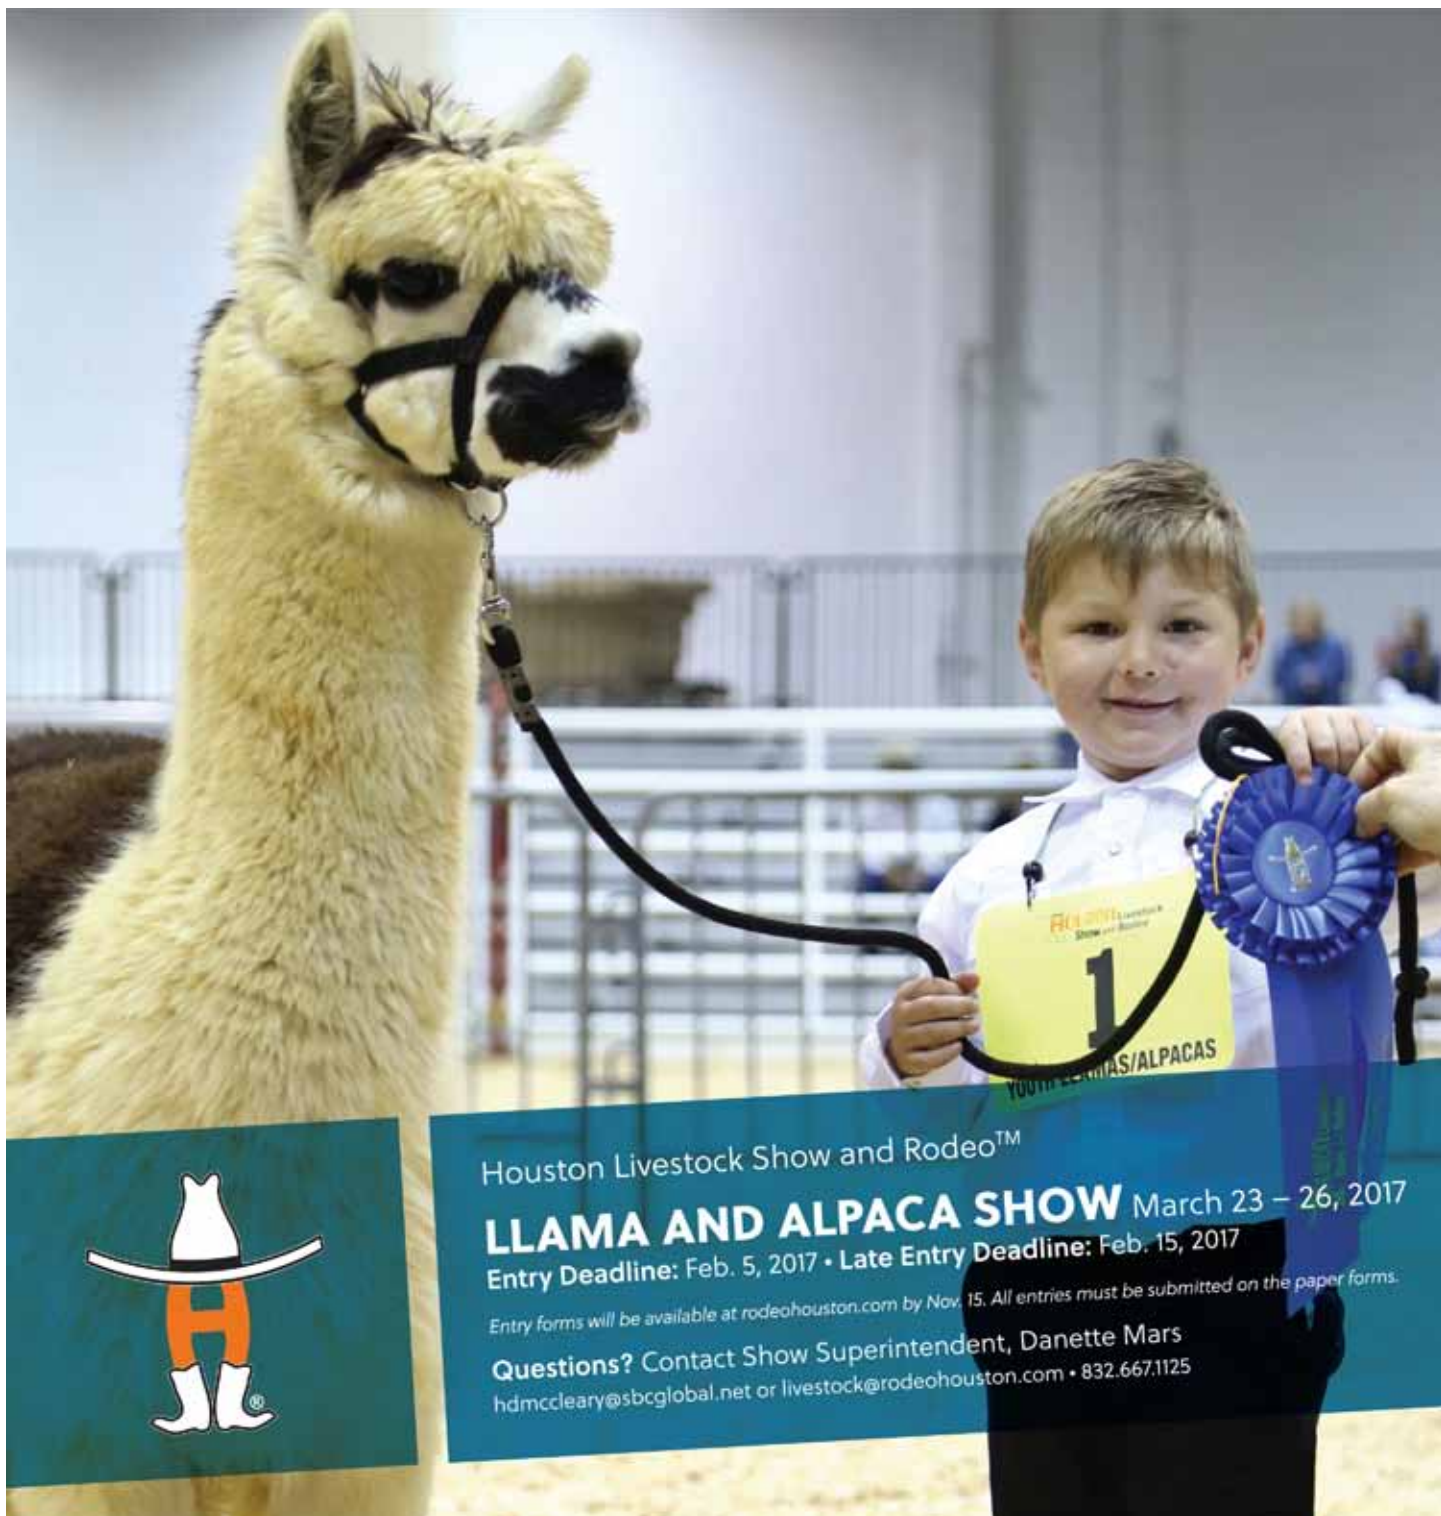

I hope each of you enjoyed this letter and the good news within!

Good luck to everyone with your showing this year!

Remember that I am here for you!

Your ALSA Executive Secretary,

Robin

Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo 2016

by Eileen Ditsler

I have owned and showed llamas since 1995. I have been to ALSA Grand Nationals every year since 2000. I have shown in California, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas. I'm not bragging, just giving you some background-I have been around.

I am not a big fan of fairs. I love llama shows. My experience with fairs though has not been good. The general public can be rude and disrespectful to llamas. Some people are interested in learning about them, but most perceive the llamas as stupid and there just for their entertainment. I have seen people pour beer on llamas, try to feed them inappropriate food, spit on them, yell at them, tease them and once someone even put a cigarette out on my llama. I don't like fairs.

That said, I have hesitated to sign up for the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. I have heard it called a fair on steroids. For years I thought about giving it a try, but just couldn't bring myself to do it. People who have showed there insisted on how great it was, but I still balked. This year a friend wanted to take her daughter to as many shows as possible while she is still young enough to be unencumbered with the responsibilities of college and work. Another good friend has deeply desired to see this fantastic event for herself as it's been a lifelong dream to show rodeo here. Her rodeo days might be over, but showing a llama there might satisfy the fantasy.

So, to Houston we go. The entries are easy – sign up for everything I was told. This fair pays and pays well. I followed directions and got everything in on time. Then I begin to think to myself-what have I done?! Hotel became an issue right away as reservations should be done the year before. Hahaha-luckily a fellow competitor had over booked, so they had an extra room available for us.

TIP #1- get your hotel reservation a year in advance

Our big trip for years has been to ALSA Grand National. It's quite an undertaking to prepare the truck, trailer, llamas and myself for a long trip. Shearing, grooming, practicing (don't get me started on the costume hours), sorting the fleeces for shorn, getting the hay wrapped, up and secured in the rack, bedding for the trailer, getting health certificates, making sure the critters at home will be cared for, oil change, car wash, ironing, phone calls to make sure those I am transporting for are aware of the scheduling, planning the route to make sure we'll hit Cracker Barrels at meal time and of course the last minute baths. There are no Cracker Barrels in California, so they are a big deal for us.

I know everything that needs to be done, it's just that we did all this only 6 months ago. And now it all had to be done in the next month-Yikes! So besides squandering huge amounts of my spare time working on a costume, I had lots to get done. Soon I was looking forward to the trip just to get some rest from the hectic to-do list.

Tip #2- Costume preparation can consume huge amounts of time-but sign up for everything

Next thing I know, we are loaded and all set to go. I am dreading arriving and having to unload all this stuff on the heels of several days on the road. I have been assured Texas is friendly and there will be help when we arrive. Really? Have they seen how much stuff we bring to shows?

The drive is uneventful even a little boring through the south western deserts but with a Cracker Barrel meal the first night out makes us happy. We had planned to stop and visit with my niece in San Antonio for the last night. After a good night's rest, the last few miles into Houston are through beautiful country. The blue bonnets are in bloom. The hills are lush green. We remind ourselves of the humidity in San Antonio when we feel drawn to daydreams of moving to Texas. Then we hit the city where we were warned of the terrible traffic. Traffic? What traffic? We roll right into town with only a couple of slow downs. We are from Los Angeles. No one knows traffic congestion like we do! 1,500 miles done and we arrive in Houston, Texas.

The directions have us checking in somewhere off the show grounds before we are allowed on the fair grounds to unload. When we pull in, the vast sea of parked livestock trailers is overwhelming. Nice young people smile at the old ladies pulling in from the wrong direction and check our papers and health certificates. They give us our credentials. Good thing we got sleep last night, as the instructions need to stick in my mind. As we start to pull out to go to the fairgrounds, another rig pulls up by us and tells us to follow them in. We pull around and try to keep up. Damn, this lady drives like a bat out of hell! Luckily I am able to stick to her tail and a few minutes later we pull up next to the building where we spend the next few days.

No sooner than I get out and start to stretch my legs than a gentleman in a cowboy hat strolls up and says Howdy! Yes, really. He notices we are from California and comments on how long a drive it must have been. During our polite conversation, I notice the lady I followed in has her belongings being unloaded from her rig by a bunch of people. While my attention is diverted, the man I had been speaking to has summoned another group of eager men and women who begin swarming around my rig. They are all offering to help. What?! So I scramble, knowing the llamas need to come out first so the items in the trailer can be unloaded. We halter the llamas and had the lead ropes are passed off to unfamiliar hands. Away they all go to "find the stalls". I am left behind to witness all my heavy totes, bales of hay, llama cart made into a chariot(more on that later), and all the other items one has to have at a show being gently and expertly moved on to utility carts which quickly disappear into the building. When everything is unloaded- and I mean everything, even things I didn't intend to go in- I stroll with just my wallet in my hand into the building to find out where everything had gone.

The first portion of the building is empty of livestock and I panicked slightly as there was a lovely thick flooring of shavings. As I pass into the next room, the shavings gave way to thick black cushiony mats in the aisles. And my most favorite thing to see at a show – sand in the stalls! The llamas were tied up in my pens and my massive pile of necessary items is neatly stacked in my tack stall. My friend's things were neatly stacked in her stall and even the chariot is safely sitting next to the end stall. I am in awe.

I untied the llamas and let them settle in their stalls. I knew it was neighborly to move my rig quickly out of the way so others could come in and unload, so I went to move it. I was asked twice if I knew where to go. It was a quick back track to the lot where we were checked in. This time I wasn't following a crazy speeding Texan so I could look around a bit. When I turned back into the field where I knew I was going to park the trailer, I felt overwhelmed yet again. There literally were hundreds of livestock trailers parked in extremely neat rows-as far as the eye could see! I followed the directions posted to one corner of the lot. A happy young man jumped into a golf cart and motioned for me to follow him. I don't know how he found it, but there was a gap in the middle of one of the many rows of trailers. I rolled my window down and he asked if I could back up. Thank goodness

I can, because I don't know where else he might have been able to have me park. He waited for me to unhook the trailer and handed me a piece of paper saying I would need it to pick up my trailer when we were ready to leave. I drove away wondering how in the hell I would ever find it again.

Now back at the livestock building, I found the llamas enjoying the cool of the air conditioned building and the soft sand. Two and half days in the trailer is a long time. In between meeting new people and visiting with old friends, I sorted my things and made myself at home. Then came the call to turn in the shorn fleeces, then there's an announcement for walking fiber judging. Again I am thankful for a good night's sleep the night before.

Everyone here is so nice. I mean genuinely nice. If I had to put a number to how many times I was asked if I needed anything or any help I'd have to say 100! At one point I was interrupted by a young man who insisted he show me the hospitality room. Just for the exhibitors, it is a curtained off room with sodas, water, coffee, cocoa, snacks of all sorts, fruit. He told me there were sandwiches for lunch. Help myself, anytime. There was to be breakfast and lunch served. Several tables made a courtyard where you could sit and visit while eating. Wow!

I began wondering where was all the general public? Wasn't this the fair on steroids? There were people walking around who I figured were other livestock competitors. Most everyone had on jeans and cowboy hats and asked intelligent questions about the llamas. No one was being silly around them or being rude. It wasn't until the next day I realized these people were the general public. How refreshing to not have to answer crazy stupid questions again and again.

In our building besides our showing and a big auction room, there was a horse arena which had various penning, reining and riding/shooting events. There were vendors everywhere. One of my friends even swears she saw Willie Nelson. Everything under one great roof – boy was I wrong. This was just the tip of the iceberg.

The next day was my big day – performance. My llamas were all silly in the first class but then did better in next two. I was bummed we didn't do better, but I realized I was having so much fun that it really didn't matter. The classes finished timely and had the rest of the day to ourselves. After a bit of socializing and talking to the public, it was time to go see the fair.

When we walked outside our building, I was amazed at the great expanse of people. We were thrown off by the heat as we had been cool air conditioning all day. We got on a tram that took us to the other side of the fairgrounds. Its Texas, everything is big here. The showgrounds were no exception. I had thought that the building the llamas were in was big, but the cattle were in a forum! The vendors there seemed endless. There were beautiful cows everywhere. So many western dressed men, women and children made me wonder if this was everyday dress for folks in Houston. We spent hours in this building. There was not enough time to see everything. We never even had the time to see the regular fair stuff.

The next day started with halter classes. About midway through, everything was halted. It was time for loan-a-llama. As I said we had been encouraged to sign up for everything. I had signed up three of my performance boys. What seemed like chaos soon began to mesh like a well-oiled machine. These people have done all this before. Little kids had been encouraged to write to the llama committee why they wanted to walk a llama. The children are selected to come to the fair with their parents to participate in this event. The kids are given a number and in age groups queued up in anticipation. They get a walk-through of a simple obstacle course. The llama owners picked numbers from a bucket and line up by number. One by one our llamas were paired with a child. The kid was given last minute instructions and then wandered out onto the course. It was so much fun watching a little one putting our llamas through their paces. There were great masses of people gathered to watch this event. Great PR for the llamas.

Once all the kids had shown, they were awarded their placings. One of the kid's parents later tracked me down to express their gratitude for allowing their boy such an opportunity. Their child had so fallen in love with "his" llama that he had already told his parents they needed plan a trip to California to visit. It was a heartwarming experience for everyone. We did some picture taking and promised we'd be back the next year.

Tip #3 – sign up for everything even loan-a -llama

Back to the show! Once the halter classes were finished, it was time for adult costume. All the costumes were amazing. My friend's daughter blew me away with her llama drawn chariot and gladiator costume. They won first place! That costume consumed many hours and was quite expensive to make, but was worth all the hassle of creating and transporting. I hope next year's costume doesn't take up as much room in the trailer though.... When evening came, the much talked about and anticipated exhibitor dinner began upstairs in a large banquet room. An open bar, band, dancefloor and catered Italian deliciousness made for an evening of fun and celebration. The fiber awards were handed out and I ended up with a couple of trophies. The trophies are the iconic H rodeo figure. Everyone who showed hoped to be able to win one as a memento of the show. Lucky me – I won a couple thanks to the fiber division!

TIP #4 – sign up for everything even fiber

Morning came and it's time to pack up. Our mountain of stuff grew and grew with not only what we had brought, but also the treasures we had bought, were organized as best we could. We said our goodbyes to old and new friends. We reflected on the whirlwind weekend, laughed and promised to all come back again. This show had become our favorite by far.

I dreaded the trip to get my trailer. How was I going to find it? When I pulled into the lot, the scenery was quite different than when I had last been here. My trailer was one of only a handful left in in the huge field. Whew! But it was also sad. So much fun and excitement had been packed in these few days. It all goes by too fast. After hooking up the trailer, I pulled into the loading area by the building. I was again greeted by a bit more tired, but still very friendly man who directed our mountain of belongings to be staged by the trailer. I was helped loading and securing everything. The llamas were brought out and loaded. It was time to go.

As we drove away, I knew I would come back again next year. It was too good a time to miss. Besides I have new friends to come back to see! It was so stress free and wonderful to be treated like royalty all weekend. I have not before experienced anything like it. If you ever have the chance, I highly recommend you try showing at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. I'll see you there!

-and sign up for everything!

The Show Crew

Around my area, we are right in the middle of the show season. We've attended quite a few shows already this year and I think this would be a good chance to recognize all those that are involved in putting on our llama shows. Many of us aren't aware of how many important jobs are needed in hosting a llama show. And there would not be any shows without them.

First there are the Show Superintendents. These are the people who organize the show, arrange all the classes and schedules, get all the volunteer help, hire the judges, order the ribbons, and get all the information out to us. Then after the show, they put all the results together and make sure the numbers are sent in so each of us gets credit for our performance. What a huge job!

The people you see sitting at the table along the side of the arena are the Show Clerks. They keep the score cards accurately and record the placings of each class. This too is a very important job that requires accuracy. Sitting next to the Clerk is usually the Show Announcer. The Announcer is responsible for keeping the show moving along in an organized way and for calling the classes to the gate. It's important for us to listen for our classes to be called so we don't hold everyone up by being late to the gate.

At the gate is another very important show volunteer. The Gate Person checks everyone in and tries to be sure no one misses their class. When you go to the gate, it's important to give your show number to the Gate Person so he knows the class is ready to enter the ring.

As you enter the showring, you will notice someone else standing out there in addition to the Judge. This is the Ring Steward. The Ring Steward is probably one of the most important people of the show and is there to help all the exhibitors as well as the Judge. He directs the class so the Judge can get a good look at everyone and keeps the class spacings correctly. If you ever have any problems or questions in the ring, call the Ring Steward over as he is there to help you. If there is an animal in the ring who is unruly or disrupting the animals to the sides of him, the Ring Steward will move him to another location in the line so everyone has a fair opportunity and is no one is by an animal who may be having a stressful day.

When the Judge then makes the placings, the Ribbon Person is there to congratulate us and present the colorful ribbons and the awards. I love having ribbons hanging on my pen at a show!

And never to be overlooked is the very important Arena Readiness Person. That's the person that you see standing by the side of the arena with the rake and scooper in their hand. He keeps the ring cleaned up when we just can't wait until the class is over to use the designated poop pile. It's really a big help if we all remember to visit the poop pile before entering our classes.

Then there is the Obstacle Chairperson and his crew. He lays out all the obstacle courses and builds and provides all the obstacles for the show. He must make sure that they all are safe for us and meet the requirements in the handbook. Transporting these obstacles to the show and setting up all the courses is not an easy job.

And of course, we all recognize the Judges for the show. Sometimes they have traveled many hours to arrive at our show. They may be standing at the show for long hours – perhaps in extremely hot or even freezing cold temperatures.

They have taken the time and paid to go through days of training just so they can judge us at shows. As you can see, judging us is not always an easy or comfortable job. We always try to thank them at the end of the show.

The members of the Show Crew, most of whom are volunteers, deserve a big “thank you” of us. Without them we wouldn’t be able to have shows to participate in. At your next show, try to remember to make a point to sincerely thank everyone involved. Good luck at all your llama shows and above all, enjoy and have fun!

Happy Humming,

Cappy
